Good afternoon and welcome to Civic Stadium as Western hosts arch-rival Central Washington in a Columbia Football Association-Mount Rainier League game with implications for the NAIA Division II National Playoffs.

Today's game is the final at home for the Vikings this season and is part of the Homecoming Week festivities at Western.

Western is 6-2 overall, 2-2 in the MRL. Central Washington is 6-2 and 3-1. The Vikings are ranked 19th in this week's NAIA Division II National Poll and the Wildcats were rated 12th.

NATIONAL PLAYOFFS ...

Central is seeking its sixth straight national playoff berth. Western has never reached the national playoffs.

To qualify for the playoffs, a team must be ranked in the top 20 in the final national poll. League champions who are in the top 20 get automatic berths. There are also at least six wild-card berths taken from the final poll in descending order.

If PLU beats Simon Fraser today, the Lutes qualify as MRL champions. If Central wins, it would almost certainly maintain its spot in the poll and gain a national berth as a wild card. If Western wins, it must move past Central in the poll, which is released Sunday, because only two teams from a league can go to the playoffs, and must be ranked high enough to get a wild-card berth. That would probably mean being ranked within the top 15 teams.

A LOOK AT THE VIKINGS ...

Western enters today's game on a four-game winning streak, its best since 1988. The Vikings have posted victories of 28-0 over Puget Sound, 34-6 over Lewis & Clark and 24-14 over British Columbia prior to beating Whitworth, 39-14, last week.

The Vikings opened the season by defeating Western Oregon, 27-10, and Eastern Oregon, 31-17, but then lost to Simon Fraser, 21-17, and Pacific Lutheran, 49-16.

Western's defense has been outstanding during the winning streak. The Vikings have allowed only 34 points in the last four games and held their opponents scoreless through the first three quarters in three of those contests.

Anchoring the Viking defense is linebacker Lynton Hyde, who has a team-high 66 tackles, including five for losses; three interceptions and two fumble recoveries.

Defensive end Jarrod Rosentreter has 13 tackles for losses in six games, including seven sacks for 67 yards. The other end, Mike McLaury, has nine tackles for losses. Strong safety Shane Volkmann has 41 tackles and three interceptions.

Freshman running back Jon Brunaugh leads the Vikings and the CFA in rushing with 977 yards, scoring nine touchdowns. He is sixth nationally in NAIA Division II at 139.6 yards a game. In seven games, he's rushed for more than 100 yards five times, including a school-record 279 yards against British Columbia, earning NAIA Division II Offensive Player of the Week and Sports Illustrated Small College Player of the Week honors.

Another freshman, quarterback Jason Stiles, has thrown for 1,246 yards and 11 touchdowns, but will miss today's game because of a knee injury suffered last week. His replacement is sophomore Matt Ness, a transfer from Eastern Washington.

Slotback Eric Meek is the leading receiver with 21 catches for 398 yards and six touchdowns.

The Vikings, who were ranked as high as 19th in the national poll this season, are second in the CFA in total defense (286.1 avg.) and pass defense (172.6 avg.), and are third in scoring defense (17.1 avg.) and run defense (113.5 avg.)

CENTRAL WASHINGTON ...

The Wildcats have remained a force despite losing seven NAIA All-Americans from a team that was 9-1. Their only losses were to NCAA I-AA Idaho State, 38-26, a loss that snapped a 41-game regular-season winning streak; and a 39-7 decision to Pacific Lutheran. Since the loss to PLU, Central has defeated Whitworth, 66-7, and Simon Fraser, 24-17.

The big weapon of a high-powered offense is H-back Tyson Raley, a two-time all-CFA pick. Raley has rushed for 344 yards and five touchdowns and caught 42 passes for 433 yards and a touchdown. Running back Joey McCanna has run for 667 yards and averages 7.0 yards a carry, but might not play today because of a knee injury. Like Western, Central starts a redshirt freshman at quarterback in Jon Kitna, who has thrown for 1,832 yards and six touchdowns. The receiving corps is led by John Balmer, who has 49 catches for 644 yards, and James Atterberry, the only Wildcat to reach the 100 plateau in career receptions with 105.

Central's defense is led by strong safety Brion Mattson, a Ferndale High grad who was an honorable mention NAIA All-American last season.

COACHES ...

Western coach Rob Smith (Washington, 1981) is in his fourth season at Western and has an overall record of 21-13-1. He was CFA-MRL Coach of the Year in 1989. Central coach Jeff Zenisek (Central Washington, 1981) is in his first season after being the Wildcats' defensive coordinator the last two years.

1991 RESULTS ...

Western was 5-3-1 overall last season, finishing third in the MRL with a 4-2 record. Central was 9-1 overall, reaching the first round of the national playoffs and being ranked No.1 nationally all season, and won the MRL title with a 6-0 record.

NOTES ...

The last time the Wildcats visited Bellingham was in 1989, when a Western record home crowd of 5,673 saw the game. Nearly that many fans are expected today ... Brunaugh needs only 23 yards to become the second Viking freshman ever to rush for 1,000 yards in a season ... Western kicker Dan Clemensen has 166 career points and needs six more to move into third place on the school's all-time scoring list.

RADIO ...

KGMI Radio (790 AM-Bellingham) is broadcasting all Western football games this season, with sports director Gary Myers calling the play-by-play and George Tharalson providing color commentary.

A LOOK BACK ...

The Western-Central rivalry is one of the best in small-college sports. But in football, it has been a bit one-sided, as the Wildcats have won the last 13 meetings. Even so, the scores have not been as lopsided as the series itself.

In all but one game since 1985, Western has either had the lead at some point in the second half or had the ball with a chance to take the lead in the fourth quarter. The Vikings even set an NAIA defensive record one year and still lost.

That was in 1989, when Western held Central to minus-5 yards passing, but still suffered a 21-15 loss.

FRESHMEN GIVE BOOST TO VIKING OFFENSE

By Butch Kamena
Assistant Sports Information Director

At the beginning of this season, Western coach Rob Smith talked about how a good running game would aid the development of the Vikings' freshman quarterback. What Smith didn't expect was to get that running from another freshman.

Those two freshmen - quarterback Jason Stiles and running back Jon Brunaugh - have passed their tests with flying colors. Even before the they take the field against Central Washington today, Stiles and Brunaugh have found their way to the Western record book and helped the Vikings get within a victory of a possible national playoff berth.

Stiles has thrown for 1,246 yards and 11 touchdowns. The 11 touchdowns are the fourth-best mark in school history, and he twice tied a record with three scoring passes in one game.

Brunaugh leads the Columbia Football Association with 977 yards rushing, averaging an impressive 5.5 yards an attempt. He set the school single-game rushing record with 279 yards against British Columbia, an effort that earned him NAIA Division II National Offensive Player of the Week honors.

But the roads they took to get where they're at right now have been a little different. Stiles waited a year for the chance he knew would come. Brunaugh was thrust into the lineup by injuries after just a week.

Stiles came to Western last year and redshirted behind seniors Matt Sayre and Brian Howard. He was told from the beginning that he would sit for a year, then be given an opportunity to compete for the starting job.

Stiles said that looking back, the year of watching was beneficial because of all he learned, but at the time, it was tough.

"I went through a lot of ups and downs," he said. "The success of my day was determined by one or two plays. I'd have a couple good days and start thinking I was ready, then other days wouldn't be quite as good."

Stiles

Smith said the benefits of the redshirt year were apparent in the spring.

"From the first drill, Jason came and said, 'This position is mine.' His work in the spring gave us some confidence, then he came back after the summer a better player physically. He left running a 5.2 in the 40 and came back running a 4.9."

"In the spring, I went from almost no reps to almost all the reps," Stiles said. "That was one reason had I come here. I wanted to play as a freshman. I knew I'd have a chance to play this soon here."

What was "soon" for Stiles was an eternity compared to how long Brunaugh had to wait, but it wasn't planned that way.

Brunaugh arrived in late August and was told, like almost all true freshmen, that he would redshirt his first season. When the Vikings went to Western Oregon for the season opener, Brunaugh stayed home.

"We had three backs who had started," said Smith. "We felt like, 'He's good, but he's probably not ready to play, so we'll give him the benefit of a redshirt year.' Boy, were we wrong."

But running backs Mike Wagner and Stacy Avila got hurt in the first game, and Pat Banning was already slowed by injury. Suddenly, there was a vacancy. Brunaugh moved into a second-string spot behind Steve Brummel.

"I thought redshirting was something everyone did, so it wasn't a big deal," Brunaugh said. "But when they asked me after the first game if I was ready, I was."

In that opening game, Stiles had seen real action for the first time since his final high school game. He had to throw his first pass from the Western end zone, but completed it for an 18-yard gain.

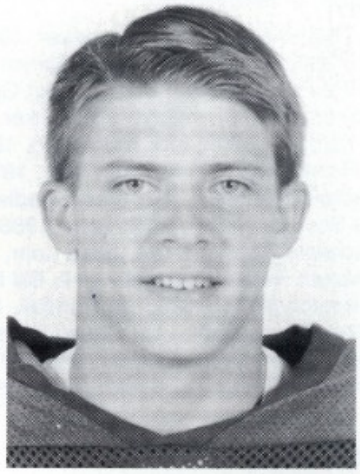

Smith said the biggest question that day was whether Stiles could take a college hit. Western quarterbacks aren't hit in practice, so it had been nearly two years since Stiles had taken even a high school hit.

The question was answered early in the fourth quarter. Stiles scrambled for a first down, but got rocked by Western Oregon linebacker Vic Lease.

"He took a big-time hit," Smith said. "It was as good a hit as he'll take here. He left for a couple plays, but came right back in and did a nice job in the fourth quarter."

The following week, the Vikings hosted Eastern Oregon. It was in that game that the two freshmen demonstrated what was in store for the next four years.

Stiles led the offense on a 99-yard scoring drive at the end of the first half in a no-huddle situation, completing five straight passes.

Brunaugh

In the second half, Brunaugh, who saw limited action in the first half, got it going. After gains of 20 and 19 yards, he cut back on a pitch sweep and went 59 yards for a spectacular touchdown, hurdling a linebacker to break into the clear.

"That's probably one of the best runs I've ever had," he said. "I can't remember ever hurdling a guy before. I think I was running scared that game. I just got the ball and ran for my life."

Brunaugh ran for 134 yards that day, and has gotten better than 100 yards on four occasions since.

"Jon makes some cuts that are amazing," Stiles said. "He's like a Silent Assassin. He goes out, does the job, takes his shower and goes home. He doesn't say a whole lot, but he's gained the respect of everyone on this team, from top to bottom."

Both Stiles and Brunaugh give much of the credit for their success to the offensive line.

"We have great senior leadership on our offensive line with Jon Garber and Jimm Coumbs," said Stiles. "They've seen it all and I get a lot of input from them. They're like big brothers, they stick by me no matter what."

Leadership is an important quantity on an offensive unit that has started games with eight of the 11 players on the field either freshmen or sophomores.

Brunaugh and Stiles are just half of the freshmen starting today. Redshirt freshman John Slater has started almost every game at guard, and true freshman Travis Cruise broke into the lineup at midseason.

"We have to bring them down to earth now and then," said Smith of his talented freshman group. "Even with what they've done, they need to know they still have improvements to make. But if we keep this group together, they'll enjoy a lot of success before their time is done."

UTENDALE PLAYS BIG ROLE IN QUIET WAY

by Butch Kamena
Assistant Sports Information Director

The role of the Faculty Athletic Representative often goes unnoticed. Many fans haven't even heard of the position and it rarely gets mentioned in the sports pages.

However unnoticed it might be, the FAR's role is important. It is the FAR who does the final certification of athletic eligibility. Without the signature of the FAR, a school can't even put a team on the field.

Western's Faculty Athletic Representative is Dr. John Utendale. Utendale not only plays an important role in the Vikings' athletic program, he also serves a national role as chairman of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Council of Faculty Athletic Representatives.

"We serve the same role nationally as we do within schools," said Utendale of the council's function. "We're an initiator and implementor of policy about the academic affairs of student-athletes."

For Utendale, being involved in athletics is natural. He played five years of pro hockey in the Detroit Red Wings organization, reaching the highest level of the minors for two years and attending NHL training camps each year. After that, he went into education and now is a professor in Western's Woodring College of Education.

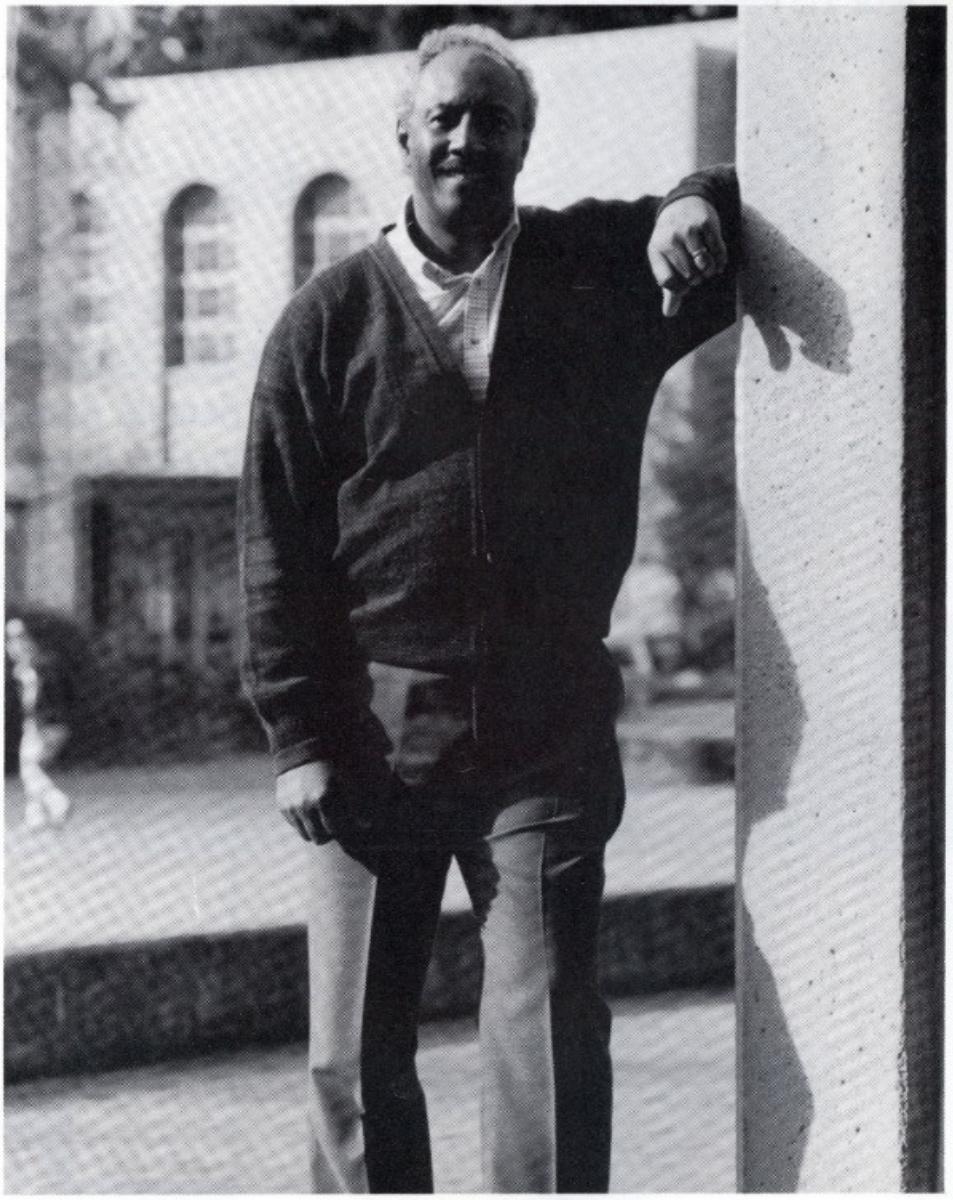

A FAR cannot be a member of the athletic department. In addition to the role in eligibility, the FAR is also a liaison between the school president and athletics. The importance of this can vary depending on the president's level of involvement with the athletic program.

"The FAR is a president's spokesperson on athletic issues," Utendale explained. "The more involved a president is with the program, the more that involvement includes the FAR."

As Western's FAR, Utendale is the representative of President Kenneth P. Mortimer. But Utendale deals with an entire body of presidents. As chair of the FAR council, he is an ex-officio member of the Council of Presidents, the main governing body of the NAIA.

"The presidents have taken a strong hand in the management of the organization," said Utendale. "There are 33 members, and we regularly get at least 30 to attend the national meetings from all over the country."

Utendale said the Council of Presidents is tackling a number of issues, most notably scholarship limitations, the new divisional structure of the NAIA and of schools having joint membership with the NCAA.

Utendale

The NAIA has had two divisions in football since the 1970s. Divisions were introduced for basketball last season and have been considered for volleyball.

"In the NAIA, we have to ask who we serve and it's clear that we serve the membership," Utendale said. "Western is one of the 10 largest schools in the NAIA. We also have small schools with just a few hundred students. The introduction of divisions creates a whole new set of problems, but it also creates greater opportunities for national competition."

Academically, the NAIA has introduced a "normal progress" rule, which goes beyond specifying a simple number of credits needed for eligibility by adding the requirement that progress must be made toward a degree.

"It's a good rule," said Utendale. "Our creed in the NAIA is to maintain a focus on academics."

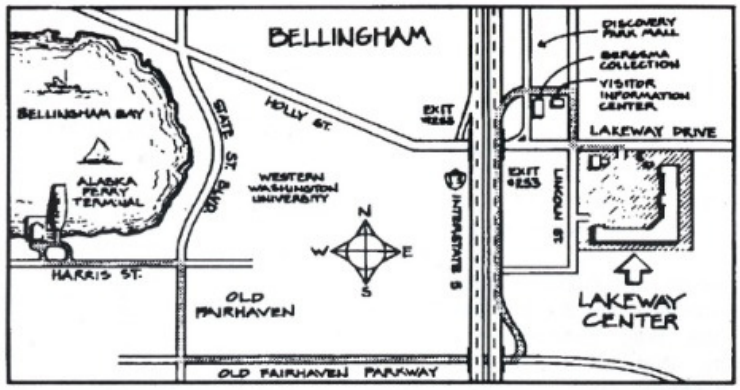

Utendale said the NAIA is also beginning to tackle issues of equality, such as the move toward gender equity already underway among schools in Washington. One of his personal goals is to build a "people of color caucus" that would take stands on issues of importance to minorities. The first meeting took place this October.

Being a national office holder has meant quite of bit of travel for Utendale, which has been something of a double-edged sword. He laughed as he considered it.

"I don't mind the meetings in Florida. It's the meetings in Kansas City that may cause me to quit."

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO TRAVEL FAR TO FIND FREEDOM FROM YOUR ECONOMIC OPPRESSION!"

VIKINGS' SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

MIKE FRITSCH
Strong safety
6-2, 195, 22
Anchorage, AK

Mike has been a top reserve the last three seasons and has been a top contributor on special teams. Last season, he had 19 tackles and an interception. He also had a fumble recovery and blocked a punt in 1989. He has moved to strong safety after playing the last three seasons at free safety. Mike is a graduate of East High School, where he played on two state championship teams and was part of a 29-game winning streak.

KRISTOFER LARSON
Defensive end
6-1, 210, 22
Yakima, WA

Kristofer has made the most of limited action this season. In four games, he has three tackles, all of them unassisted. Two of those tackles were for losses, including a quarterback sack. Last season, he lettered, making four tackles. He saw limited action the two seasons prior to that after redshirting in 1988. Kristofer is a graduate of West Valley High School, where he was a first-team all-league pick as a senior and twice played on teams that reached the Kingbowl.
