Loggers Need This One Tonight

Wood

Brown

Light

Tonight is the night. The Loggers have to win to tie for the Evergreen title. Western has to win to tie for the Evergreen title. So it should be quite a ball game. Hang on to your seats!

Western so far this campaign tied one with PLC, then dropped one to Eastern, something they never should have done, say the experts. After those two, they have set down all of their conference foes with comparative ease.

Puget Sound on the other hand dropped one to Central, and have won all the rest, BUT they have to get over Western tonight, and PLC next week. Western is through tonight with conference competition, while Eastern tangles with St. Martin's. The Loggers have the tough row.

Twelve seniors play their last home game tonight. Dick Brown, Ing Thompson and Norm Pollom are ends. Les Gilsdorf, Warren Wood and Lee Turnbull are three guards trotting out on the home field for the last time. Captain Dick Hermsen winds up four years of duty, while LaVerne Martineau is doing the same. Backs playing their last contest are Mel Light, Bob Robbins, Howie Martin and Jim Sulenes.

Don't get us wrong. This is their last home game. There is one more game to play, but that is PLC's home affair next Friday night.

The business at hand tonight is rough. Western is the only team in the conference that whipped the Loggers last year, 14-12, in a mud battle in Bellingham. It knocked CPS out of undisputed claim to the title. It was the only conference game Western won last year, besides St. Martin's.

Coach Heinrick and his boys are after this one. Not only do they need it, but they want revenge from last year.

The Western Washington Vikings

Doctor Charles "Lappie" Lappenbush, the canny coach, and Vikings move into Lincoln Bowl tonight to try and repeat their winning ways over CPS. Of the three post war battles Lappie has had with Puget Sound teams he holds a one game edge.

In 1946 saw the Vikings edge CPS 7-6, in Bellingham. The next year in the Stadium, Dick Carlson's pass interception gave the Loggers a 6-0 win. And last year the Bellingham team won 14-12.

Coach Lappenbusch, the gent who feeds his men vitamin pills and makes them wear long underwear on cold days, is loaded this season.

He uses strictly a unit system. One whole team, complete with subs, for offense. Another complete team, with subs ,for defensive work.

Norm Hash, the big bruiser from Enumclaw, is the main offensive threat, and one of the hardest hitting fulbacks in the conference. Tom Taylor, captain of the squad, is a capable left handed passer that has caused Evergreen foes plenty of trouble this year.

PARTLOW
Viking End

Jerry Karnofski plays the tailback position in the Lappenbusch "cockeyed box," and is also a pretty fair thrower. He and Hash carry the ball carrying load.

The Lappenbusch defense is a thing to behold, however. He has his men spread all over the field in defensive formations that have bewildered opponents for years. Tonight will be no exception as he is out to stop the vaunted Logger running attack.

The Vikings are knocking right at the top of the conference for the first time, and they like the situation. They will be a rough team to beat tonight.

LOGGERS IN ACTION

ANOTHER ACTION SHOT

This is another picture from last year's PLC tussle. This one has Don Greenwood getting massaged rather thoroughly after intercepting a Lute aerial. For friends and relatives of the striped shirt gentleman, we don't know who he is.
