Sheriff and Deputies

We are attempting to play this game of football according to the "Great Book"—the Rule Book. Predetermined criteria for the conduct of human beings is important. The actual training which takes place under the supervision of four competent officials is educational.

Our offensive and defensive football strategy is based on "Principles of Operation" but the most important systems of our football machine are the human systems.

Greetings, Alums! When you have a boy who can do a man's job, let's hear.

C. F. LAPPENBUSCH,
Head Coach.

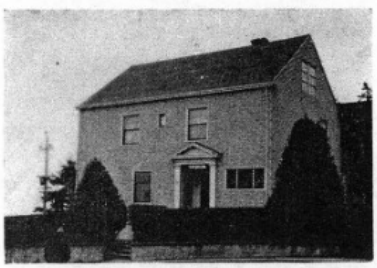

The students and the men on Western's squad join this year in welcoming back old grads. In Cheney we have one of the finest squads in this league for our Homecoming game. No one need to be told how important this game is to us. We have great confidence in our teammates and coaches. They are the finest group of men we have ever been associated with in sports. Here's wishing for a completely successful Homecoming.

ART LARSSON,
Defensive Co-Captain.

DWAINE LAMBERT,
Offensive Co-Captain.

Western Night Riders

Night action in the Western-CPS game in which the two teams battled to a 13-13 tie, with the final gun going off as the Vikings had a first down on the Puget Sounder's one-foot line. Larry Lowery passed the ball to Bob Cline (93). It went through his hands to Walt Espeland (22) of CPS who in turn deflected the ball into the arms of Art Svidran (84) for a completed pass.

About Today's Game . . .

Today is the big game, the season's natural. Western Washington, unbeaten in conference play against once-beaten Eastern Washington, the pre-season favorite. The Vikings must win this game to win their first conference title since 1938, which incidentally was the last time they beat Eastern. Eastern has a strong defense spearheaded by Bill Lowther, an all-conference guard, and a big experienced forward wall. In Howie Glazier and little Johnny Ditz they have two of the most explosive and fastest backs in the league. In their field-general, Dale Gier, they have a good passer who is also adept at running the bootleg play.

JIM INGALLS

Offensive center from Snohomish . . . transferred from Everett J. C. . . . All-State in high school . . . dependable center and good blocker

The Vikings have used sheer power plus a slick passing attack to roll up 195 points to their opponents 45 in seven games. In Al Schireman they probably have the best all-around back in the league and "Bull" Hash is the hardest hitting fullback seen around these parts in many a year. Little Tommy Taylor who has broken his nose five times in five games is a shrewd signal-caller and a shifty, hard plunging runner. The Western line is loaded with experience and blocking talent in the names of Lambert, Ingalls, Richardt, Salsgiver and Compton. Art Svidran along with Ewing and Kloes are all capable pass receivers. The two blocking backs, the two Bobs, Scoll and Feagen, pave the way for the powerful Blue and White running attack.

Lappy's "Big D" team, led by their all-conference line-backers, Tiland and Frazier; wild Bill Stendal and the two Anacortes terrors, Larson and Cornett. Very few teams have even seen the Viking's secondary. The ends, Hood, only a freshman, and Cline have blocked many a punt and attempted end run. In the secondary Lappy has his small, fast backs who lead the league in interceptions, Lowery, Richardson, Roberts and Winters.

This team will long be remembered as one of Westerns' greatest.

AL SCHIREMAN

Offensive left half from Everett . . . shifty and hard runner . . . transferred from Idaho . . . was all-conference back at Everett J. C. . . . outstanding passer on team . . . 22 year old senior.
