Greetings . . .

Homecoming is a joyous time of renewing old friendships, of visiting places filled with fond personal memories, and a rising pride in the marks of progress which show themselves throughout the campus, both in new buildings and in the enthusiastic faces of youth.

To the alumnus who hasn't been to Western in the last few years, the campus must seem surely changed, and indeed it has, with new dormitories and academic buildings and playing fields. But behind it all continues to be the spirit of Western, which for so many years has made this an excellent school where students find friends, a good education, and a loyalty, all of which carry through long after graduation.

HARVEY C. BUNKE
President
Western Washington State College

Homecoming is a time to reaffirm our allegiance to our Alma Mater and to re-dedicate ourselves to the best interests of our college. In this students, faculty and alumni join.

This year marks the first Western Homecoming for our new president, Dr. Harvey C. Bunke. He has already shown his interest in alumni affairs by encouraging the reorganization and rejuvenation of the Alumi Association. I hope many alumni will have the opportunity to meet our new energetic forward-looking leader this weekend.

May I call your attention to two important achievements in the area of physical education and athletics during the past year? Our sometimes underpublicized baseball team earned its way to the national tournament by winning the Evergreen Conference and the Pacific Coast NAIA regional play-offs for the second straight year. This fall marked the completion of the first phase of our outdoor sports facilities for instruction, intramural and varsity sports and recreation. The new field and track is located beyond the "old" practice field. We are both grateful for and proud of these new facilities and hope you will have time to inspect them this weekend.

Have a good Homecoming weekend.

DR. WILLIAM A. TOMARAS
Director of Athletics

WELCOME BACK ALUMS (and friends of Western, too!)

On behalf of the students of Western, I would like to extend to you a very warm "welcome back to Whatcom Normal". As Western's name has passed through its various forms, so has the completion of her face. The student enrollment is now over 5000 and our buildings number about 25. The faculty is around 550 and the administration looks like they're almost as confused by the IBM jungle as the students are. Western has changed through the years, but of course, this is but the nature of things.

As the week of Homecoming climaxes this evening with the Queen's Ball, so does our reminiscing about the bygone days, the times when faculty outnumbered the students, the evenings spent traveling between Old Main, Edens, the Library and MRH. But before tonights over, Homecoming is still with us and we all have the chance to join in with the old guard that continues to return each year and learn about our old traditions, our new traditions, about our old acquaintances and maybe some new ones.

All in all, tonight ends another trip into the past so take part and enjoy yourselves at our expense. We're here this week just for you.

BLAIR F. PAUL
President, Associated Students

Today's Game

Today's Homecoming battle features the nation's 4th ranked small college football, the Eastern Washington State College Savages and the Western Washington State College Vikings. Eastern has never gone undefeated during a gridiron reason and will be risking their perfect 6-0-0 record while Western, 3-2-1, will be flirting with title hopes and oblivion. The Savages are 3-0-0 in conference play, Western is 1-1-1. An Eastern win this afternoon would cinch the Evergreen Conference football championship for the men from Cheney.

The Eastern eleven, picked by many pre-season prognosticators as the team to take all the marbles in 1965, are coached by Dave Holmes. This marks Holmes' third year at Eastern. Inheriting a team in 1963 which hadn't won a game the previous two seasons, Holmes rekindled football interest on the Cheney campus. His 1963 team won three out of nine games. Last year, the Savages recorded a 5-4 record.

Key to Eastern's offense is Mel Stanton, a 5'-9", 185-lb. senior halfback who prepped at Lewis and Clark High School in Spokane. As a junior last year, he averaged 88 yards rushing a game, was named all-conference and all-state small college back of the year, and was the 14th leading ground gainer in the nation.

The amazing Stanton is having a greater year in 1965. With three games remaining on this year's football schedule, Stanton has rushed for 925 yards in 138 carries for an average of 6.7 yards per carry. These statistics become more meaningful and astonishing when compared with another great football player, University of Southern California's Mike Garrett. Garrett has ben stealing the headlines this year, rushing for 895 yards and an average of 5.4 yards per carry. His feats have also been accomplished in six games. Getting back to Stanton, his rushing average of 154.2 yards per game and his 96 points scored are tops in the nation for small collgee competition.

Stanton also poses as a triple threat. Although he has thrown sparingly this season, he has hit his receivers twice for a total if 31 yards. Stanton, himself, has been on the receiving end of two passes, good for 69 yards and a touchdown.

Fantastic as Stanton may be, Eastern is far from a one-man team. The Savages have the No. 2 conference rusher in Don Strate, a junior from Davenport. He has rushed for 406 yards in six games. Strate is also the No. 3 scorer in the conference with 34 points; two touchdowns, one field goal, and 19 PAT's.

Another factor contributing to Eastern's success is their balanced attack. Sophomore suarterback, George Cross, has solidly established himself as the No. 2 passer in the EVCO with 406 yards gained through the air. Eastern pass receivers Dave Hansen and Dean Adams are listed No. 3 and No. 4 respectively among pass receivers and Adams is also listed among national leaders in punt returns, averaging 25.8 yards per return.

Assigned the task of opening up holes for Stanton and Co. are 240 lb. tackles, Alan Landmark and Keith Roundy; guards, Roger Schjeldahl and Steve Hecker; and center, Dick Langum. All are seniors except Landmark. Hecker was named all-conference last season.

Defensive standouts for the Savages are Steve Glass, a junior tackle, and pass catcher Dean Adams, who also doubles as an all-conference safety.

During the last ten years, Western has had a successful 10-3 record against Eastern. Since becoming head coach at Western, Jim Lounsberry has never lost to the Savages, winning seven times but never by more than one touchdown. Last year the Viks won 20-14 and 12-10.

The Vikings' play this season has been plagued by inconsistency and injuries. Lounsberry's gridders haven't played two good ball games consecutively in 1965. On odd games they defeated the University of British Columbia in their opener, 12-0; Whitworth, 14-0; and Portland State, 13-2. However, the 2nd, 4th and 6th games produced losses to Central, 19-6; Pacific Lutheran, 27-14; and a tie with Puget Sound, 12-13. Hopefully, the trend of winning odd games will continue through the Eastern game.

Injuries have handicapped Western both offensively and defensively. Ball packers Steve Richardson and Tom Guglomo have been slowed recently with shoulder and ankle injuries, respectively. Guard Al Divina, ends Keith Shugarts and Gary Axtell, and defensive backs Bruce Delbridge and Fred Worthing have all missed at least one game. Defensive end Axtell and Delbridge were all-conference last year along with Richardson who was named to both the offensive and defensive all-EVCO teams. Hurt against Portland State and out for the remainder of the season with ankle fractures are three-year letterman Doug Smith, a defensive back, and Neil Combelic, a sophomore guard and the team's place kicker.

Western features a balanced attack, also. Quarterback Ralph Burba and Pat Brewin have completed better than 56% of their passes for a total 518 yards. Bob Gidner and Tom Guglomo spearhead the ground game and the deft Richardson ranks high in all team statistics. He leads the team in pass receptions, punt returns, kickoff returns, and although he doesn't tote the ball often, he has the best average per carry, 3.75 yards. Not shown on the statistical chart but never-the-less vital to the offensive machine is blocking. The 5'-9" 178-lb. Richardson is superb at this art.

Western Homecoming this year salutes the Viking football team of 1951. Coached by Charles Lappenbusch, this team recorded a 8-1-0 season, scoring 282 points while limiting their opponents to 57. Their most one-sided victory was a 59-0 massacre over the Savages from Eastern. Today, the Vikings will settle for a win.

1965 CAPTAINS

DON STRATE, Fullback. A junior letterman who was an all-conference nominee as a sophomore. Strate shares the ball carrying duties with Stanton. Strate came to Eastern last year after playing freshman ball at Idaho and immediately became one of the strongest runners in the conference.

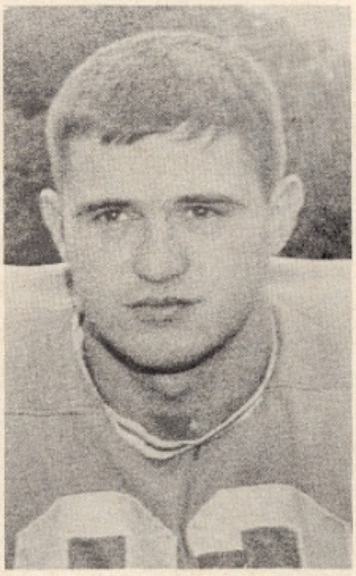

DEAN ADAMS, Flanker. A senior letterman who was a standout in both football and track last season. Adams provides the much needed speed at the flanker spot and in the defensive backfield.

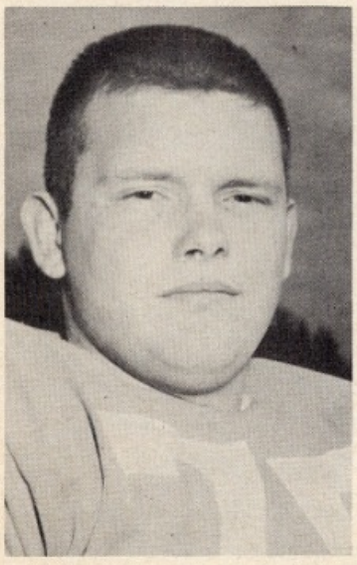

GEORGE CROSS, Quarterback. A high school all-conference quarterback from Hoquiam, Cross was a pleasant surprise last year when he earned the starting quarterback spot late in the season. This season he has kept the reins and has directed the Savages to their present 6-0-0 record.

Western Coaches

Head Coach DR. JAMES LOUNSBERRY

Now having the title of dean of college football coaches in the state of Washington, Jim Lounsberry is beginning his sixth year as head mentor of Western's Vikings.

A product of Seattle, the Lounsberry football playing days began at Seattle's Queen Anne High and in 1963 transferred to the campus of Western's arch rival, Central Washington State College, where he won ALL-NORTHWEST honors as a booming fullback. After receiving his B.A. in Education in 1941, he enlisted in the Air Force and completed his service tour with a rank of major.

Lounsberry's coaching career began at Foster High School in 1948 and in 1950 found himself at the University of Washington as an assistant to Howie O'Dell in the Don Heinrich and Hugh McElhenny era. From the University of Washington campus, Lounsberry was picked by Whitworth College in 1952 to raise their football fortunes. In the next five years of coaching at Whitworth, Lounsberry compiled a remarkable 32-9-1 record while going undefeated in 1954 and 1955, winning three Evergreen Conference Football titles, 1953-55, and being named in 1955 as United Press West Coast Football Coach of the Year. From Whitworth he moved to Washington State University in 1957 where he was an assistant coach under Jim Sutherland. An assistant coach at Western in 1959, he replaced John Kulbitski in 1960 and has since compiled a 20-22-2 record, all winning years except his initial year as head coach.

During his eleven years as head coach, Lounsberry has found time to procure a Masters and a Doctorate in Education from the University of Washington.

True to tradition, Lounsberry's oldest daughter, Diane, will attend Central Washington State College this fall, following the footsteps of her mother, Rita, and her dad. The Lounsberry's have two smaller children, Sally and Jimmy.

JIM SMITH

Western now has on its faculty and coaching staff a 5'4" giant, Jim Smith, who hails from the Portland, Oregon, area. Smith, who has earned a Master of Education from the University of Oregon, will not only be end coach for Lounsberry's gridders, but he will also direct Western's intramural program, and replace as wrestling coach Dr. William A. Tomaras, whose pressing duties of athletic director and department chairman have forced him from the coaching ranks.

Though better known for his wrestling exploits, this eager fellow played football while an undergraduate at Portland State College and has since been active as a high school football coach in the greater Portland area.

Preceding his appointment to Western, Smith coached at Madison High in Portland where his record as a wrestling coach had been phenomenal. In four years at Madison, his wrestling teams had a combined win-loss record of 51-5, with at least one individual state champion yearly.

His dedication to athletics and physical fitness is attested by the fact that he was the originator and director of the Portland Kids' Wrestling and Fitness, a well known program designed to instruct grade school children in wrestling and gymnastic fundamentals. Total attendance of his program was recently 2,500.

Jim is married and has one daughter and two sons.

GERY GEHRMANN

Assigned the task of tutoring the Viking defensive line and the linebackers for the 1965 football campaign is Gery Gehrmann, a 1963 graduate of Washington State University.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Gehrmann played his high school ball at Franklin Pierce High School in Tacoma and gained his varsity experience under Jim Sutherland at WSU. This will mark the second year that Gehrmann has been associated with a Lounsberry coached team. Gehrmann's freshman coach at Pullman in 1958 was Western's Jim Lounsberry.

Prior to his arrival to Western's campus, Gehrmann had two years of coaching experience in the Vancouver, Washington, Evergreen school district as a football coach. He has also played two years of semi-pro football in Portland.

Married and the father of a daughter, Gehrmann's official capacity at Western for the Year 1965-66, in addition to line coach, will include the job of athletic trainer for all college sports; all this while working towards his Master's degree in Education.

DON WISEMAN

This will mark the fourth year at Western Washington State College for the popular red-headed educator and coach, Wiseman first assumed the duties of assistant football coach for the Vikings in 1962, after successful years of high school coaching.

A graduate of Idaho State College, Wiseman played four years of collegiate football at Pocatello, 1950-52 and in 1955 after a two year hitch in the service. The completion of Wiseman's education in 1955 also brought to an end his football playing days and the launching of his coaching career. In 1956, Idaho State appointed Wiseman to the dual role of assistant football coach and head swimming coach. From there he moved to the Washington State University campus where he earned his Master of Science and later to the University of Oregon for further graduate study. Subsequently, he took a position in the Eugene, Oregon public school system. Western became cognizant of Wiseman's work in Oregon and hired him not only as Lounsberry's football assistant but also as head swimming coach. Last year he assumed the position of tennis coach also.

Wiseman is married, has two children and is recognized as one of the top badminton players on Western's campus.
