VIK HARRIERS SEEK 3RD STRAIGHT NAIA DISTRICT I TITLE

The Western Washington State College cross-country team is after its third straight NAIA District I championship this fall, but coach Ralph Vernacchia feels his 1974 squad can go even further.

"Our team goal is to make it to the NAIA national meet and do well in it," stated the second-year Viking mentor, "but, of course, to do that we must first win the district title."

A veteran corps of five lettermen return, only Fred New, who ran fourth in the Evergreen Conference meet and fifth in the district, departing via graduation.

The quintet of felt winners include Tom Duncan (Jr., Seattle-Blanchet HS), Russ Fuller (Sr., Oak Harbor), Andy Herrom (Sr., Tacoma-Lakes HS), Steve Menard (Soph., Oak Harbor) and Greg Wirtz (Soph., Edmonds-Meadowdale HS).

Fuller is a three-time award winner, while Duncan and Herstrom have earned two letters.

Of this trio Vernacchia said, "They've been the ones who have pulled the team together in the past and I expect the same thing to be true this year."

Duncan was especially impressive last season as he placed third in the district meet, fifth in the Evco and participated in the NAIA national meet.

Menard is expected by Vernacchia to take New's place and the Viking coach feels Wirtz should be a real surprise after his record setting performance in the 3000-meter steeplechase last spring.

Another upperclassman showing promise is Paul Juarez (Sr., Bothell), who didn't compete last year after transferring from Bellevue Community College.

Nine freshmen will be vying for positions. They include Kevin Adams (Seattle-West Seatle HS), who placed 16th in the state AAA meet; his brother Steve, Bill Nordyke (Orting), Chris Pamp (Kennewick), Tim Post (Tacoma-Wilson), Steve Pilcher (Spokane-Shadle Park HS), Jeff Sherman (Eugene, Ore.-Sheldon HS), Steve Wilson (Tacoma-Clover Park HS) and Steve Wilson (Seattle-Tyee HS).

Of his recruits Vernacchia said, "I feel they are even better than last year's, which I felt were really good, and should help us considerably."

The NAIA District I Coach-of-the-Year expects Central Washington to give his team its strongest northwest competition with Eastern Washington a potential threat. It was the Eagle team which defeated the Vikings in last year's Evergreen Conference meet.

Nowadays, the news is full of what big corporations are doing for someone they call "the little guy." That's you if you can plunk down $5,000 — or even as little as $1,000 — for an unsecured investment. Given that, they'll let you in on the ground floor, the big deal, the fat yield. The glitter may be irresistible. But it is not insured. And that's the trade-off. To get that extra percentage point or two of interest, you must give up the insurance protection so crucial to your security in uncertain days.

It has never been different. There has always been the lure of higher yield, and always at higher risk. The stock market for example. An arena of great gains and great losses.

The bond market may seem more stable. But it is important to note that corporations do not insure your investment. Not even when the word "bank" is stuck on the front, as in "bankcorporation."

A good investment it may be. But it is not a substitute for your savings account with us. There is no substitute. When we talk about paying 7.50%* interest yielding 7.90% per annum, we are talking about insured savings. Insured up to $20,000 on individual accounts and up to $280,000 on multiple accounts by an agency of the Federal Government.

Your principal is insured. The interest rate is guaranteed. The only possibility for you is one of generous and substantial gain. You cannot lose. Not with us. *Withdrawals prior to maturity require that interest be paid at passbook rate (5.5%). Low $5 min.

Accept No Substitutes.

hook 'em Vikings

A new spirit pervades the 1974 Viking football team and the person behind it is new assistant coach Bill Baker.

Baker, a teacher and wrestling coach at Bellingham's Sehome High School, has been sought after by head coach Boyde Long the last two years. But it was not until this past summer that arrangements could be made to hire him on a part-time basis.

For five seasons Baker coached the Sehome line under ex-Viking Bruce Randall. During that period, the Mariners won two conference championships.

Now, after a two-year layoff, the balding, bespectacled Baker has returned to the gridiron wars with unparalleled enthusiasm. And Western football may never be the same because of it.

"I've wanted to work for Coach Long ever since I met the man," stated Baker. "I think he's the most knowledgable coach in the northwest and together I feel we can make Western football a winner."

From the first day of practice, when he challenged the team to a pushup contest (his record is 234), the 39-year-old Baker has been a fanatic in his drive to uplift the Vikings.

"I'm trying to get across a concept, that by working together and working hard enough anything can be accomplished," he explained. "This must start with the coach by teaching sound fundamentals and developing an 'esprit de corps'."

To help bring about the latter, Baker has contributed a new fight song and the hook'em sign with a Viking curve.

"There's a difference," said Baker in describing the sign. "If the horns are straight, that's the University of Texas sign, the cattle, the animal. Here at Western, we like to feel we're humans and so we put a little crook at the end. If you look at the Viking horn you see it has a curve and that's human."

Baker, a firm believer in conditioning, is constantly having his linemen do pushups, special drills and on occasion runs up Sehome hill.

A real concern of Baker's is the strength of his lines' necks. Thus before each game the linemen pair off, facing each other and put their heads together. Baker then climbs up and walks across the helmets.

"It all revolves around the word love," Baker said. "Love of your fellow man. I work my men hard because I want to help them, to prepare them for the challenges life will present."

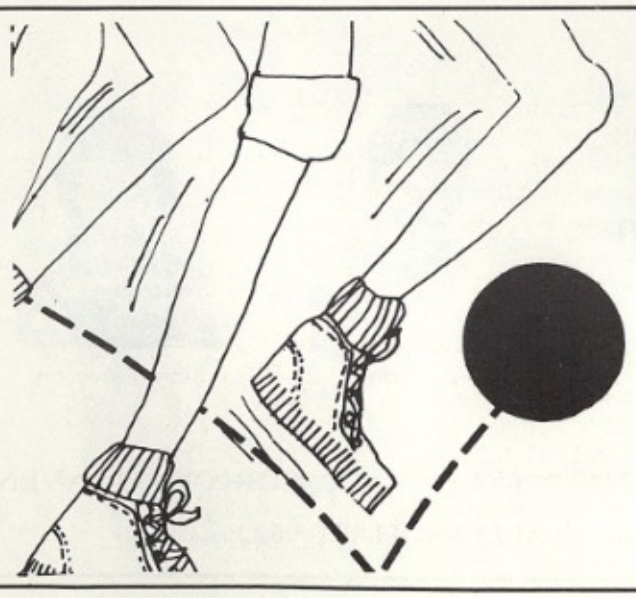

Coach Bill Baker illustrates the difference between the Texas and Western hook'em signs.

But Baker wants to go beyond the team in his spirit drive.

"I want to bring the student body, the community and the alumni into the picture," said Baker. "I believe we're all a family and if we can get that togetherness going nobody can stop us."

"I think Western is a great school. As far as football is concerned we've just been through a little storm, but we're coming out of it and in 1974 we're going to turn that Viking ship around."

IN THE 2nd OF 6 HOME GAMES:

WESTERN WASHINGTON STATE MEETS LEWIS AND CLARK COLLEGE

This evening Western Washington faces a Northwest Conference opponent for the second straight week as the Vikings host Lewis and Clark College at Civic Stadium.

Last Saturday the Vikings were beaten 48-0 in their season opener by a veteran Pacific Lutheran University squad, while the Pioneers edged defending Evergreen Conference champion Central Washington, 14-10.

Despite the loss Big Blue spirit remains high and the coaching staff's attitude continues to be positive.

"We're a young team and it was our first game and we just made too many mistakes," explained head coach Boyde Long. "But we're going to bounce back and win some ballgames."

Lewis and Clark presents a big challenge to Western's comeback hopes. The Pioneer offense controlled the ball 21 minutes of the second half in their win over the Wildcats, while the defense held the explosive Ellensburg offense to 88 yards rushing and 118 yards passing.

Coach Fred Wilson has an outstanding runner in tailback John Janisse. Last week he romped for 122 yards in 22 attempts, including a 15-yard touchdown run.

At quarterback is Dave Woodmark, who completed seven of nine passes for 79 yards against Central.

The Pioneer defensive unit is a veteran outfit led by tackles Scott Burkhart and Adrian Ikehara and middle guard Mark Tomseth. Their effectiveness was illustrated in the fourth quarter of the Central contest when the Wildcats had a first down and goal to go at the L-C two yard line. Four plays later they were forced to settle for a field goal from the 16 yard line.

Though failing to score, Long felt the Viking offense showed well on occasion in the PLU game. Fullback Bruce Robinson and halfback Rick Vanderyacht are starting in the backfield along with quarterback Blaine Fransen.

Fransen, who did not play last year, was impressive passing in his second half stint against the Knights. In 1972 he threw for over 1800 yards at Wenatchee Valley CC.

On the receiving end of Fransen's aerials are flankerback Dan Bailey and split end Don Renner. Both possess fine moves and have good hands.

Line coach Bill "hook'em" Baker has Andy Harlin at center, Bill Bailey and Brett Bennett at guards and Jay DeBellis and Bruce Phillips at tackles. Paul Mann is the tight end.

The Viking defense centers around inside linebacker Gary Gilmore, who was in on 21 tackles against PLU. Alongside him is Bob Taylor.

Up front at the tackle positions are the DeBellis brothers, Dann and Jay, and middle guard Mike Haerling.

Long was concerned over the play of the defensive secondary and outside linebackers. These two areas received most of the attention in practice this past week.

Viking Notes:

Sophomore fullback Gill James suffered torn ligaments in his right knee during the PLU contest and will be out for the season . . . the last time Western met L-C was in 1956 . . . the all-time series record for the two teams stands at 3-0-1 in favor of L-C . . . the Vikings' next home game is Oct. 12 against Central Washington.

DO-IT-YOURSELF STATISTICS

As a service to fans who like figures, this "do-it-yourself" statistics form makes it possible to keep track of what the individual offensive stars contribute as the game progresses. It may help you win some post-game "debates" on who had the most yardage, and it may help you second guess the official scorers in the press box. Their statistics will appear in tomorrow morning's papers. See how close you can come to their totals by using these simple pointers on statistics:

1. Keep cumulative totals for each rusher, passer or receiver. For example: James gains 2, 7, 9 and 3 yards and then loses 3; you would write 2, 9, 18, 21, 18 in the blanks opposite his name. At the end of the game you would have his cumulative rushing gain. Do the same with yardage gained for the passer and receiver; make a dash (—) in blank if the attempted pass is incomplete and an "X" if the pass is intercepted. Circle the rushes or passes that are scoring plays.

2. Don't worry if you only come within 10-15 yards of the official team totals. Individual judgments differ as to the line of scrimmage and sometimes make a difference in the final totals.

3. Remember that it takes 10 yards to make a first down. The last inch can be as important as a yard and must be scored as one. Go by where the official down marker is on the sidelines, not by your guess of where the ball is in the middle of the field.

4. Credit first downs on scoring plays that originate from lines of scrimmage beyond the 10-yard line.

5. On plays involving penalties measured from the point of the foul, credit the rusher or pass receiver with yardage only to the point of the infraction.

6. Charge gains or losses on fumbles to the player who you think contributed most to the error.

7. Do not score two-point conversion plays after touchdowns as rushing or passing plays.
