GRIDIRON REPORT

IMPORTANT OPENER FOR WESTERN

Western Washington head football Coach Paul Hansen doesn't mince words when discussing the importance of today's season-opening game against Lewis & Clark College.

"If we can get off to a good start, especially in a decisive manner, it would get our blood flowing and the team would be off and running," says the fourth-year coach. "The players would know they had arrived. It's more important to our team's confidence than it's ever been before."

For a team that won only two games a year ago — and which hasn't won a season opener in 15 years — that's a tall order.

Outsiders might find it hard to believe that the Vikings, 2-6-1 in 1985, could be contenders this year for the championship of the North Division of the Columbia Football League. But with that first game under their belt, swears Hansen, it could easily be true.

Indeed, Western returns 16 starters from a squad that came tantalizingly close to a winning campaign in 1985. Five of WWU's six losses were by a total of 17 points, including a hard-fought 28-27 decision to this same L&C squad at Portland, OR. In that contest, the Vikings came back from a 28-7 fourth quarter deficit only to fail on a two-point conversion try with five seconds remaining.

"Lewis & Clark (3-6 last season) will be a much improved team this year," says Hansen. "But then, so will we."

Hansen believes as many as six players on offense and eight on defense could be deserving of post-season honors if they play up to their potential. Their quickness and strength has led Western to begin talking about its "White Lightning" offense and "Blue Thunder" defense.

Three "super sophomores" in particular may hold the key to the Vikings' season: quarterback Kirk Kriskovich, halfback John Dickinson and kicker Peter LaBarge.

As a redshirt freshman in 1985, Kriskovich completed 178 of 305 passes for 1,887 yards, the second highest total in school history. His 58% completion rate, which broke a WWU record that had stood for 20 years, included one stretch of 98 passes without an interception.

Dickinson rushed for 766 yards, the most by a Viking runner since 1979. Three times he ran for more than 100 yards, including 161 in Western's late-season 36-22 upset victory over nationally tenth ranked Puget Sound.

LaBarge was honorable mention all-CFL as he ranked sixth nationally in kick scoring with a 6.1 points per game average. Connecting on a perfect 22 of 22 PAT attempts and 11 of 18 field goal tries, he was the Vikings' top scorer with 55 points. He also averaged 37.7 yards as a punter.

Western's major graduation loss was honorable mention NAIA Division I All-America tight end Ken Sager, who caught a school record 53 passes last year. His position will be filled by Darin Lindahl, who was a reserve linebacker in 1985.

Fullback Terry Gilchrist, Academic All-America split end J.D. Phillips and flankerback Dimitri Ancira are all coming off excellent years.

A pleasant surprise in pre-season drills has been freshman halfback Scott Lohr, who will start against L&C in place of Dickinson, having problems with a strained thigh muscle. Lohr has exceptional quickness. Hansen is also pleased with the development of new wide receivers Scott River and Eric Ouren who he feels give the Vikings a deep passing threat that they have lacked in recent years.

Pivotal to Western's success is the offensive line. When everyone is healthy, the Vikings can field a five-man front that averages 240 pounds from tackle to tackle. "It's by far the best group we've ever had," says Hansen. "Not only are they big, but they're good athletes, too."

But "healthy" is the key word here. Only starting center Tony Kovscek, who was an Academic All-America a year ago, has remained fit throughout pre-season camp. Second-team all-CFL quick tackle Darren Smith is expected to be ready for the L&C game. Elsewhere, redshirt freshman Pat Galvin will start at strong tackle ahead of Carl Grahn; freshman Rob Walker will start at strong guard ahead of transfer Jerry Flynn; and redshirt freshman Derek Doke will start at quick guard ahead of transfer Randy Swilley.

The defense is built around two potential All-Americans, Wayne Lewis and Duffy Cox. Lewis was honorable mention All-America and first-team all-CFL a year ago when he led the Vikings in tackles (87) despite playing in only five games. Whether Lewis can rebound from a severe knee injury is a major question for Western. Cox transferred to WWU after a year at Montana State. They have a lock on the inside linebacker positions; while returnee Kenny Pearrow is at the "hit-man" linebacker spot.

The defensive line is anchored by three players who received post-season recognition last season. Tackles Joe Cleary and Kim Nix were first and second team all-CFL, respectively, and end Jesse Steele was honorable mention. Joining them at the other end is redshirt freshman Elmer Grasser. Cleary has missed most of the pre-season with an ankle injury, and may be replaced in the L&C game by two-year letterman Lincoln West.

In the defensive backfield, second-team all-CFL strong safety Jason Carnahan and cornerback Norman Carroll are the stalwarts. Jeff Gulliford will start at the other cornerback, and Tom Bainter at weak safety.

"Our defense is very strong throughout," says Hansen. "It should be equally good against the pass and run. I'd like to see us keep our defensive scoring average down around 14 points a game this year."

The L&C Pioneers return 11 starters from 1985. Quarterback Bill Fellows, who passed for 1,619 yards and 14 touchdowns last season, opted not to compete his senior year in order to concentrate on baseball (catcher) where he is a professional prospect. Calling the signals this year is Tim Norton, a 6-3, 205-pound transfer from Oregon. Another talented Duck transfer is tailback Mike McCarty, the son of third-year head Coach Don McCarty.

Three returning starters, who earned post-season honors last year, are second-team all-CFL offensive tackle Gary Wescott (255) and two honorable mention picks on defense, tackle Jon Kurahara (225) and end Eric Stauffer.

"The whole league will be real tight from top to bottom this year," Hansen predicts. "The key to winning is going to be who has the least injuries.

"I hope it's us."

—John Anderson

The best minds in America are growing up in places like Bellingham.

And at Georgia-Pacific, we want to make sure they realize their full potential. That's why we offer college scholarships throughout many of the communities where G-P operates.

This year, Bellingham Division granted four $5,000 scholarships to graduating seniors in Bellingham and Whatcom County. Nationally, the company awarded a total of 113 scholarships in 1986 valued at $645,000.

It's not surprising to us that a town like this is such an excellent place to learn and grow. After all, that's why we're here.
